WHARF CONTRACTS FAVOR RICHMOND FIRMS

NATION PAYS LAST TRIBUTE AT AGE'S BIER

By DANNY RUNYAN

WASHINGTON, April 27. —Ha-

ships at last on a little green-turfed hill in old Virginia

Floyd Bennett,
the young petty officer of the American navy,
who laid down
his life on the glorious field of self-sacrifice.

Around him as he rests there
are marble slabs
graven with names thunderous in history.

The names of men who fell in bloody battle or died in peaceful beds long after the storm of human conflict had ebbed for them.

Generals and colonels and majors, admirals and commanders lie there. For this is Arlington cemetery, consecrated to the nation's heroic dead. The crash of musketry is constantly echoing out over the Virginia hills as all that is mortal of some man who wore his country's uniform is turned back to dust.

Bennett was buried with all the honor that a nation could bestow, with all the respect that might have been given: a dead man of mightiest importance in life. Official representatives of thirteen countries stood at his bier.

The casket was blanketed with flowers. A huge army truck came grinding up the hill loaded with floral offerings. The ceremony was quite brief. It was the ceremony of the Christian church,
with Rev. L. E. Smith of Norfolk, Va., a friend of the dead man, preaching a short sermon. About the grave were some of the most prominent men in Washington, official and civil. Many smartly dressed women were also there, apparently oblivious to the rain that was ruining their finery. At least the minister sprinkled the casket with a handful of the yellow soil that encompasses over 35,000 of our soldier dead in Arlington. . . . Floyd Bennett was at rest.

The figures incorporate buildings completed since January 1,
buildings nearing completion, and
construction scheduled to be completed during the year. It includes both public and private enterprise.

A summary of major building
operations follows:

$500,000 for Pacific Petroleum
Products Co. and E. L. Doherty Corporation, now building a great oil terminal on the harbor front.

This figure is very conservative and will undoubtedly exceed $1, 000,000 before the end of the year.

$500,000 for combined wharf
and cargo building on inner harbor to be known as the Parr-Richmond Inner Harbor Terminal, built jointly by the City and the Parr-Richmond Terminal Corporation.

$600,000 for the new Richmond
Union High School, Twenty-third and Tulare, work started in 1927
and now nearing completion.

$150,000 for new office and assembly facilities, Santa Fe shops,
to be completed this year.

$104,870 for new Woodrow W.- son grade school, completed this
year.

$100,000 for new Kress building
now under way at Macdonald avenue near Tenth, with an elevator freightage on Tenth street.

$100,000 for new unit and equipment at the Certainted Products Corporation's plant here, just completed.

$100,000 for new home of the Richmond Commercial and Savings Bank, Twelfth at Macdonald.

$90,000 for First Presbyterian church at Thirteenth and Barrett,
soon to be under way.

$75,000 for First Baptist church
at Thirteenth and Barrett, completed this year.

$60,000 for Hotel Leo at Sixteenth street and Macdonald avenue, completed this year and occupied.

$11,000 for 2-story office, apartments and store building to be built by Louis De Gregorio on Macdonald near Twelfth street.
Contract let.

$10,000 for new Piggy Wiggly Wigglyham Edward White will be in store on Macdonald avenue between Tenth and Eleventh.

MOBILE, Ala., April 27.—The body of a man clad in aviator's uniform has been found by fishermen on Dauphin Island and the coroner today sent his deputy there to bring it to Mobile for examination.

Doubt was expressed that the body may be that of Harry Brooks
who lost his life off the Florida coast while piloting a new Ford plane, or that of Paul Redfern, Georgia aviator, who attempted a flight from Brunswick to Brazil
last year.

Long To Appeal Bridge Writ Decision

"Just Empty Words"

"YOUR LOCAL MERCHANTS DESERVE YOUR PATRON-AGE."—Chamber of Commerce.

"BUY AT HOME—YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE HERE THAN ELSEWHERE."—Chamber of Commerce

The two above slogans are being flashed on the theater screen every evening. The sentiments expressed in them should be carried out by every business man and every resident of Richmond.

If everyone practiced what these slogans preach, dollars
that are earned in Richmond would be spent in Richmond, and benefit would be reaped by all.

If the directing head of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce would carry out these slogans, he would receive the commendation of everyone, but when you take into consideration that he insists on an OAKLAND-2-DAY-A-WEEK-$200-A-MONTH publicity man, whose whole interest seems to be centered in OAKLAND, being retained, it would strike the average individual THEY ARE MERE EMPTY WORDS, JUST CAM-OUFLAGE.

Business men of a city support a civic organization not to encourage dollars going out of town, but to keep the dollars in town.

Officials of a civic organization should keep their skirts clean, and like Caesar's wife, "they should be above suspicion."

BUILDING TOPS THREE MILLION MARK SINCE FIRST OF YEAR

With the heaviest building months just ahead, Richmond's 1928 building program has already topped $3,000,000!

This amount represents major building operations only and does not include permits issued for homes or enterprise under $10,000.

The figures incorporate build-
ings completed since January 1,
buildings nearing completion, and
construction scheduled to be completed during the year. It includes both public and private
enterprise.

HIGHER COURT RULES AGAINST COUNTY BOARD

Attorneys for Roy O. Long and the Contra Costa board of supervisors, who were yesterday denied a writ of prohibition by the California supreme court, which would bar Superior Judge A. B.
McKenzie from directing the supervisors to reopen the bridge franchise hearing and grant a permit to Charles Van Damme
of the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry company, have announced that steps would immediately be taken to appeal the decision.

With receipt of word of the court's refusal to issue the writ,
A. F. Bray and J. E. Rodgers, counsel for Long, president of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge,
Inc., and District Attorney A. B.
Tinning, counsel for the supervisors, announced that an appeal would be taken from the court's ruling.

The application for the writ of prohibition was filed as a short cut to court determination of the dispute and the supreme court's refusal to grant the writ is considered by attorneys to a desire to have the matter laid before it on the regular course of appeal.

Long was awarded a franchise
in competition with Van Damme
for construction of a $15,000,000
bridge joining the two counties.
The ferry company head then instituted petitions seeking to force
a grant of a franchise and Judge McKenzie in ruling on them directed the supervisors to reopen their hearing and grant Van Damme first choice of a bridge permit. His ruling was predicated on the contention that Van Damme as a property owner at terminals has a preferential right to a span privilege. Van Damme followed this action with a petition for a writ of prohibition which estopped a franchise grant to Long.

In applying to the supreme court for a writ of prohibition against Judge McKenzie, Long and the board of supervisors contend that the superior court has no jurisdiction over supervisory actions unless there has been a violation of law.

Successful Bidders Selected By Parr Company Directors

At a meeting of the directors of the Parr-Richmond Terminal Corporation held in San Francisco yesterday, it was decided to whom the corporation will let its contracts for the unit it will construct on Richmond's harbor, and in every case where there was but a small difference between an outside bidder and a local bidder, the preference has been given to the local firms, and the money expended will remain in Richmond.

The only part of the contract that has not been decided is the roofing and sheet metal work,
and the Parr corporation will ask the council to join with it in asking for new bids on this section of the contract.

The putting in of the piles,
the building of the substructure,
and the superstructure,
will go to the California Construction company at its bid of $227,000.

The plumbing work will go to R. W. Timmons at a contract price of $2,788.33.

The electrical work will go to the V. G. Electric company and the Pacific Electrical company jointly, as their bids are but about two and a half percent higher than outside of the firm,
and the recommendation of the engineer H. J. Brunner was that the differential should be absorbed and the work given to the Richmond firms.

The Parr-Richmond Terminal
Corporation will notify the council of its action, and on Monday night will recommend to it that it act in unison with the Parr corporation and award bids for its units to the same firms.

It is believed this will be done and that within thirty days active work will start on the new combined units, which when completed will represent an investment of nearly $500,000 and will place
the Richmond harbor in the front rank so far as harbor facilities are concerned.

kin J. Younce, Richmond manager of the American Trust com-

Drew urged leaders in public life to establish such foundations and cited outstanding examples of that type of community enterprise.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF RICHMOND, CAL.
SATURDAY, APRIL 28, 1928.

ANOTHER GREAT AIR EXPLOIT

In the midst of enthusiasm over the flight of the Bremen from Europe, not sufficient attention is being paid to the remarkable flight under way by General Umberto Nobile in his airship Italia.

This big dirigible has already navigated safely from Italy to Germany, through tempestuous airs that threatened its destruction.

That proves the stability of a craft on its way to make a thorough exploration of the polar regions.

It gives new impetus to the project of establishing transatlantic service for passengers by air liners.

While there is still considerable doubt whether airplanes can be built with wide enough safety margins to make the perilous trip on regular schedule, there is no doubt at all that a dirigible system is perfectly practical and practically safe at the present time.

For proving this, the Italian air navigators deserve the thanks of the world.

MILITARISM

A terrible and militaristic piece of news appeared in the papers the other day. A big gun was reported as on its way to be set in the defense of the Panama Canal. It is seventy feet long, which is bad enough, and weighs 735,000 pounds, which is worse. Undoubtedly it is intended to shoot shells at an attacking ship. Perhaps it might sink such a vessel with loss of life on the part of the enemy.

We shall expect an immediate protest from Oswald Garrison Villard in the Nation, and other pacifists, and a denunciation of an administration that sanctions such a thing, and of presidential candidates who fail to raise their voices against it.

Militarism must not go unrebutted—Kansas City Times.

A New York man, who walked through Central Park in the snow, clad only in his bathing suit, was arrested. If this had been a woman, the cop would have passed her by, thinking she was wearing the latest street costume from Paris.

A machine is in use at Pittsburgh which registers the number of persons attending a meeting by counting the shadows. This is all right but how would it work at the ball park on a cloudy day?

The German postal chief has decreed that woman postal clerks during working hours must wear skirts eight inches below the knee. This is no doubt to prevent interfering with the males.

According to the New York Times the taxi drivers in Gotham hold spelling bees when they are not busy. We always supposed they spent their idle hours tuning up the taxi-meters.

Mary Pickford Executor

MARY PICKFORD EXECUTOR FOR NIECE'S ESTATE! Mary Pickford's mother died last month leaving an estate valued at $1,000,000 to her and $200,000 to Mary Pickford Smith, niece of the film star. Above are Mary Pickford signing papers making her executor of the estate, her niece and Douglas Fairbanks.

Vigorous Health

KNOCK-KNEES
Knock-knees, technically known as genu valgum, is a deformity of the knee joints which permits them to bend inward so that they often knock together in walking. It is generally a result of lack of nutrition and lack of exercise, although improper shoes and walking with the toes turned out may produce it. There is a good chance of correction in persons who have not yet reached maturity and always a good chance of improvement even after maturity.

The treatment consists in removing all possible causes and taking special exercises. In adults, the use of splints or braces which are worn at night and when convenient during the day, is of value. The first thing that is necessary is to correct the diet in order that the blood may contain all the necessary building elements. Raw fruits, vegetables and milk are especially important. Sunlight should be taken. Shoes should be like the foot and with low heels should be worn and care observed to always toe straight forward. The special exercises include such as raising and lowering the inner edges of the feet, the full knee bend with the feet crossed, spreading the knees apart against the resistance of the hands while in a squatting position. Persistence is always required.

My feet perspire excessively I understand it is not advisable to try to stop this perspiration. If it continues, with the constant irritation, it may cause cancer to develop. This is not a desirable condition. It is not advisable to suppress this perspiration, but it is advisable to stop it by removing the causes, even though it is very unlikely that cancer or any other abnormal condition would develop as a result of the skin irritation. The way to remove the causes is to take a fruit diet for a few days with daily enema to cleanse the system, and then follow with a strictly natural diet, general exercise, deep breathing and bath to stimulate general skin activity.

Do You Know That—

By MRS. HALL-DEANE

Vestees are fashionably important this spring. The lustrous satin vestee with modest pearl buttons is always a smart choice, also the novelty silk vestee that buttons up cleverly to a chic bow tie.

Ivory and beige are effectively combined in some of the smartest pumps of the season. A pretty model of ivory kid boasts a T-strap in beige kid, trimming bands cleverly arranged at the sides, and a new Spanish heel.

The new lingerie of printed silk favors black lace as a trimming. A nifty dance set introduces a black print on a flesh background, and uses bands of black lace to trim.

DADDY DUSK

The principal nodded his head in sympathy as the children explained to him that they did not know where they were using the same theme for their plays.

"I really thought so," he said, "but I'm glad to have it from your own lips. The committee asked me to find out."

And with that he was out of the room, leaving three big-eyed children behind him.

"Maybe they aren't going to throw our plays out," Twinkle said hopefully.

"What difference does it make?" Joe put in gloomily. "We're the laughing stock of the whole school, anyway."

They sat there looking very, very forlorn.

"Let's stay in here so we won't have to talk to anybody," Twinkle said as the minutes ticked off. "I don't believe I could stand to go back to the auditorium. And I know I don't want to see any of the girls in the class."

"Let's go home," Twinkle suggested. "Nobody would ever know."

"Let's not," Joe said. "It would be too much like running away. And we might as well face the music."

So they sat there, doing nothing but watching the clock tick off its minutes more and more slowly, until it finally seemed almost to stand still.

My mother got my little sister ready to go out and then told her to go down and wait on the front steps for her. Soon the child came running back all out of breath and said: "Mother! there's two men and mother one on the front steps." She had not yet learned to say three.

WHY I BLUSHED

I was sitting with my mother in the ladies' room of a prominent hotel one day as a middle-aged stout woman, wearing a very flapper hat, which had a tremendous bunch of cherries dangling on one side, was departing. Mother nudged me to observe her, but, alas, she made too hasty an exit. Hardly a moment later, mother said to me, "Here she comes again," and as I glanced her way, she approached us, and remarked, "I returned purposely so that you might have another look."

Dear Miss Lee—
I have been going out with a girl for the last seven years. After three years we got engaged and were to be married the next year. But when the time came she asked me to wait, and since then she is always putting it off, and will not give me any reason for doing so. I told her that she did not love me—but she says she does. We had a quarrel and we parted for a month. Then I started to go out with her again. I asked her to get married in June, but she wants to wait until September. I am afraid when the time comes that she will put it off again. Now, Miss Lee, I love her, but since she acts that way I don't know what to do, as I want to make a home for myself. She is 29 and I am 28.

Henry

I must confess that the actions of your young lady are rather bewildering to me. Why she would go with you for seven years and be engaged to you for seven years if she didn't intend to marry you seems a bit incomprehensible. There is a certain type of girl of course, who wants to hold on to a man while she looks around for something better. If you think that as the case, then I would advise you not to waste any more time. But I would rather think this, that you have given her the impression that you are primarily concerned with a home. That any woman would do as long as you were made comfortable. No girl would like it. She wants a home, too. But she wants to be the reason for the home, she wants to sure that you can not imagine a home without her. Think it over, Henry, haven't you been a little bit to blame?

GOOD MANNERS

Q. Is it permissible for a young man to give his fiancée an engagement ring with her birth stone if he feels that he cannot afford a diamond.

A. Yes. The engagement ring may be whatever gem-set circle or gold he can afford or the girl may prefer.

Q. I am to be married at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and expect to wear the regulation white gold with veil. Is it permissible for the groom to wear a business suit?

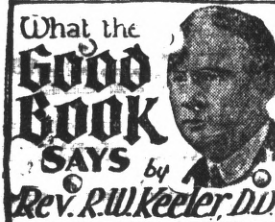

A. A business suit would not be correct. When the bride wears a veil and formal wedding regalia, other members of the bridal party, including the groom, must dress accordingly.

Q. What is the correct size for dinner napkins? For luncheon napkins?

A. Dinner napkins should match the table cloth in quality and pattern and should be from twenty six to thirty inches square. Luncheon napkins, as a rule, measure from sixteen to eighteen inches. Tea napkins are about twelve inches square.

Q. Should the groom or the bride's family provide the furnishings of the home?

A. Strictly speaking, the groom is responsible for the home and the furnishings with the exception of the linens, which the bride should provide. If the bride and her family wish to share in the furnishings, it is quite all right for them to do so.

What the Good Book SAYS by Rev. R. W. Keeler, D.D.

Q. Should a man work seven days?—D. G. M., Bronxville, N. Y.

A. "Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work."—Deuteronomy V:13.

Q. What was the ancient status of illegitimate children?—B. R., Roanoke, Va.

A. "A bastard shall not enter into the congregation of the Lord; even to his tenth generation shall he not enter into the congregation of the Lord."—Deuteronomy XXIII:2.

Q. What was the curse of the Gibeonites?—H. B. E., Danvers, Ill.

A. "Now therefore ye (Gibeonites) are cursed, and there shall none of you be freed from being bondmen, and hewers of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God."—Joshua IX:23.

Q. What sort of spirit had Gideon's band?—M. O'D., Plandome, L.I.

A. "Gideon came to Jordan and his mouth wrinkled up with amusement. 'After I've waited all these years for a proposal from you I should think that I ought to be allowed a little time.'"

Q. How much did Ruth glean in a day?—F. L. K., Denver, Col.

A. "So she (Ruth) gleaned in the field until evening, and beat out that she had gleaned; and it was about an ephah of barley."—Ruth II:17.

Q. Who was Edith Cavell?

A. "This check is doubtless all right," said the bank cashier, politely, "but have you anything about you by which you could be identified?"

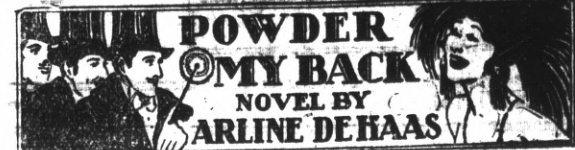

The pretty young thing blushed. "I have a mole on my left elbow."

POWDER MY BACK, starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
Adele Dayton, starting in "Powder My Back," visits her married sister, Maize, in their home town, Brooklyn, Iowa. During her stay, Harry Stark, her niece's beau, and George Robertson, her childhood sweetheart, now a bank president, with fall in love with her. She returns to New York and Harry follows her. Later, George arrives, explaining that Harry came with the bank funds and that her niece is heart-broken. Whereupon, for her niece's sake, Adele goes to Atlantic City with George and when Harry follows her, begging her to "love with him," she appears with out her makeup, showing him her real age. George proposes to her.

but she would not grow into a girl of sixteen. She knew that her work would keep her away for some time to come. But she thought with a great deal of pleasure of retirements from the stage and long trips, and then coming back to a new part—a new rehearsal.

"Does that mean that you're really accepting me, then?" George leaned forward, his face tense. "O, Adele, it does mean so much to me. I can't make love to you like some of these young boys—but—'George—you darling! Of course I'm accepting you.' She reached out her arms to him.

George rose and lifted her to her feet, holding her closely. He kissed her again and again. A sudden vision of Harry shot through her mind, but she sent it flying into another world, and looked up to gaze at the strong, smooth face framed about with iron gray hair. Somehow, it was more comforting, more interesting to her than had been the other. Not so romantic—and dramatic, she reflected, yet more solid and more substantial than Harry.

It was funny, Adele reminded herself, for her to be thinking of solid and substantial things. She realized that she was only going through a momentary emotional phase of wanting someone to lean on, after her storm with Harry. But George would be like that—someone to lean on after any kind of a storm. And after this mood had passed she could settle herself into another of happiness and companionship.

"O—pardon, Madame," Renee came into the room suddenly to find her mistress being heartily embraced by Monsieur Robertson. She stepped forward, apologetically. "It's all right, Renee. Adele called out to the shrinking maid. 'You may come in. You see, I'm just announcing my engagement to Mr. Robertson.'"

"O, may I congratulate Monsieur," Renee curtsied low. "You certainly may Renee—I'm just congratulating myself," George returned heartily.

"You didn't finish my back," Adele reminded Renee. "George, you'll probably have to sit through this many times, so you might as well get used to it. Here, Renee," she handed the long puff to the girl.

"Do you really mean to say you actually use that thing?" George laughed as the powder went flying about.

"Of course I do. That's the proper thing to use for one's back—especially when there's so much of it to be done. Didn't you notice—O, I forgot. You've never been in my dressing room, have you?" George shook his head.

"You'll have to come and see the show from the wings some night," Adele told him. "If you're going to marry an actress, you'll have to learn a lot. The only thing I'll never ask you to do, George, is to back any plays for me. When I get to the point where I can't get a part on my own, I won't dig up my own shows and put them on for myself. You're never going to be an 'angel' to me."

"Well, that's a help," George admitted.

"Here, Renee," Adele took the powder puff from the girl as she had nearly finished, and handed it to George. "Suppose you try this. Come on. Powder my back."

George got up, laughing, and took the stick awkwardly from the maid. He dipped it into the powder box and splattered it on. Suddenly he stopped. Adele looked up at him inquiringly.

"What about all these Counts and Dukes and so on that have powdered this lovely back?" George asked severely—but his voice was tinged with jealousy.

"O, George, now you're not going to be a silly deer," Adele pointed. "There never were any such people—seriously. But an actress must have her publicity."

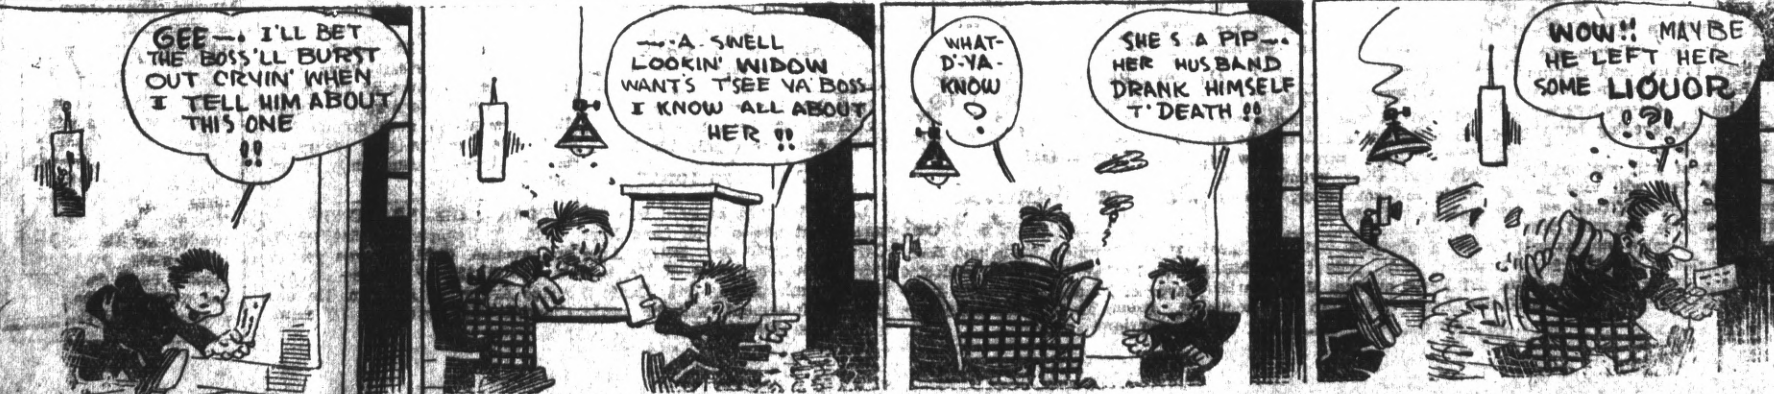

"Ah, I see," George smiled, reassured. He resumed the powdering with great industry, while Adele laughed at him in the mirror.

"That's why I used to keep that marmoset—for the same reason," Adele explained. "But that's gone now. And I promise you I'll never have another one."

"Can I rely on that?" "You must certainly can," Adele smiled.

"Well, then, I rather think I'll marry you," George laughed, and bent down to kiss the rounded white shoulders.

THE END

How To Earn Money!

I am travelling a lot, but I do not earn very much. I take quite a number of pictures from different part of the country and would like to know if there is any chance of selling the same—E. F.

I cannot be very encouraging in your case, because I am sure that most rotogravure sections, both magazine and newspaper, are well supplied by various publicity departments as well as their own staff. I would suggest, however, that you try to make some arrangement with a postcard company or develop the pictures on cards yourself and sell them through the stationery shops.

LONDON FILM. SETTING IN ICEY NORTH

The dreary, dangerous wastes of the frozen Alaskan plains; the hectic excitement of a boom town; the wild, hilarious gold-mad miners on a spree—against this colorful background, has been woven one of the most engrossing films of the season.

The picture is Burning Daylight, a First National production, which opened last night at the California Theatre.

Based on Jack London's thrilling novel of the same name, it provides Milton Sills with one of his greatest screen roles, as the daring, courageous prospector who makes and loses several fortunes, and finally makes the greatest gold strike of the day.

On the screen has been transplanted all the color, movement, excitement and epic drama of those stirring times and the result is a picture fraught with thrills, tense drama and sweeping facts.

Milton Sills has never had a role which fitted him more perfectly than the role of the reckless, irresponsible, dangerous adventurer of the northland, ready for the wild-chance of the greatest gamble of the most dangerous venture which presents itself.

Opposite the virile star is charming Doris Kenyon, who provides a delicate contrast to the rugged Sills.

The long list of supporting players includes many names well known on the screen and among whom are Arthur Stone in an excellent comedy role; Jane Winton, Stuart Holmes, Quinn Williams, F. H. Kane, and several others.

Charles Brabin directed "Burning Daylight" for First National Pictures.

Other features include "Dad's Choice," and Edward Everett Horton in "Dad's Choice."

CONSPIRACY CHARGED IN MOVIE SUIT

NEW YORK, April 27.—Charges of a gigantic conspiracy and restraint of trade in the motion picture industry were made today in a suit by the Federal department of justice.

Ten prominent motion picture distributing corporations, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. and 32 film boards of trade in as many cities were named defendants.

The suit was filed under the Sherman Anti-Trust act in the United States district court of this city by Attorney General John C. Sargent and United States District Attorney Charles H. Tuttle.

It is the result of an investigation started by the department of justice in January, 1927, which still is being conducted. The government asked for a permanent injunction against the defendants, individual and collectively restraining them from maintaining the alleged conspiracy or any of a similar nature.

WHOLESALE EXECUTIONS LAID TO RED

VIENNA, April 27.—Bella Kun, one time Red dictator of Hungary, who is held here for suspicion of forming plots on behalf of the third Internationale was beset tonight by a clamor from Hungary that he be delivered into their hands.

Old charges that he illegally executed 145 persons during his bloody five month's regime in Hungary are still docketed against him. Austria authorities who have jailed Bella Kun and several of his companions have not yet decided whether they will yield to Hungary for extradition. It is not yet determined if Bella Kun, who came here from Russia, acquired citizenship under the Soviets. If he has, it is doubtful if he can be sent back to Hungary.

VICTIM HOLDS IDENTITY OF KNIFE WELDER

SACRAMENTO, April 27.—William Wickham, Alameda county murderer, whose throat was slashed by a fellow convict yesterday at Pelson prison, steadfastly refused today to disclose the identity of his assailant either to Warden Court Smith or to relatives who visited him in the prison hospital.

In keeping with the convict code of ethics, Wickham told Smith he would "take his chance alone" when he recovers and has no intention of aiding official action against the man who stabbed him.

School nurse says
all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking Nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when Nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Does Friendship Really Count In Business?

Quite a long time ago someone said, "there is no friendship in business." He couldn't have been thinking very hard when he said it because nothing was ever farther from the truth.

The business of our store has been built up entirely on friendship—the sincere kind that tries to give our customers just a little more than a square deal.

The very future of this town depends on the friendship of the surrounding community, and we who serve in its stores should remember that every discourteous and selfish act on our part hurts our own future; every kind and thoughtful act is just another stone to build up mutual prosperity.

Let's make 1928 a big year for community development. We can do it if we'll all pull together.

FIREMEN TAKE MEASURE OF BANKERS, 12-4

The firemen tangled with the American Trust company team yesterday afternoon at First street park in the second game of the Commercial Twilight league and when the seven innings were ended, the firemen had scraped together 12 runs to the four made by the Bankers.

Pathway was on the mound for the firemen and held the Bankers to three hits. Howard, twirler for the Bankers, was forced to let the firemen gather eleven hits.

There were no heavy hits knocked during the game aside from the two-baggers knocked by Evans and Huzarika.

The firemen started the game rolling by making two runs in the first inning with the Bankers doing the one, two, three. The Bankers came back in the third inning making three runs and annexed another in the fourth. This was as far as they got.

In the sixth inning, the firemen picked their spots and added five runs to their score.

Spike Kelly, without whom the bases at First street park would feel out of place, was umpire and called the shots.

REALTORS ARE NAMED AGENTS FOR ESTATES

Plate Vaughan and Metz, realtors at 816 Macdonald avenue are very jubilant over the fact that they have been appointed general agents in this section for what is known as "Redwood Estates," a subdivision in the Santa Cruz mountains that has been opened for those who desire a place for their summer outing.

The tract is ideally located on the mountain road to Santa Cruz, six miles beyond Los Gatos, and is only a three hours drive from Richmond.

Members of the firm have visited the tract and declare it one of the most ideal outing resorts they have ever inspected. Everyone has been arranged for the convenience and comfort of those who purchase lots.

When you consider the advantages you get in this tract the prices fixed on the lots are very low. You will know the entrance to the tract when you reach it on the highway for there is a large Dutch windmill erected at that point.

There is a recreational center laid out in the tract, clubhouse and equipment, swimming pool, tennis grounds and shuffle board. Enjoy an outing in the mountains either Sunday or Wednesday, and in addition get a free lunch with the trip. Just see Plate, Vaughan & Metz, and they will gladly present you with an invitation card, which will make you their guests for the day.

The "sticks" is that region where a thief is just a thief instead of a master criminal.

Between Tenth and Eleventh streets is to be under way shortly.

$15,000 for 3-story store and apartments at southeast corner of Fourth and Macdonald, W. T. Esteb, owner. To be completed this year.

In addition to the foregoing, is the $300,000 Richmond General hospital, funds for which are now being subscribed. It is to be a 100 bed hospital. It is expected that the hospital will be started, if not completed this year.

The estimated expenditure of the Pacific Petroleum Products in 1928 is very conservative as Frank R. Seaver, president of the $25,000,000 corporation, in announcing the location of the oil terminal here, declared that the company contemplated spending $2,000,000 in its construction program. Of the $500,000 already contracted, $250,000 is for giant steel storage tanks of 100,000 barrels capacity. In addition will be many miles of pipe line; a pump house; garage building and administration building besides a wharf built at right angles to the present facility on the Parr-

Richmond Outer Harbor Terminal.

Residential construction last year reached $896,000 and while the first quarter in 1928 does not loom as large as 1927, it is believed that with the summer and early fall, residential construction will take a spurt.

Legs Are Changing Shape, Says Mayo

LOS ANGELES, April 27. — "Women are getting shorter and their legs are changing shape. "Insanity in America has more than doubled in the past thirty years."

"A cure for cancer will come, but any cure advertised today is worthless."

So declared Dr. Charles Mayo of the famous Mayo brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn.

He also said that automobile riding is causing people to lose the use of their legs. In time, he said, legs will be shortened and become useless appendages.

WAR OUTLAW NOTE FRAMED BY GERMANS

BERLIN, April 27. — Germany's answer to the American note suggesting to the leading world's powers that they make known their attitude on a joint agreement to outlaw war was handed to United States Ambassador Jacob Schurmann tonight by Foreign Minister Stresemann. The content of the German answer will be published here within the next few days.

Germany it is understood, agrees with the position of the American government insofar as it aims to prevent wars, but desires a stipulation that the clauses guaranteeing the integrity of national boundaries shall not be interpreted as checking peaceful efforts to settle existing eastern boundary disputes.

You can recognize the typical American anywhere. He is asking somebody for a match.
